

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT FORM

Name: Greg McGee

School: James Taylor High School

Rationale for Amendment: To allow internet access in extemporaneous speaking. This passed two years ago year 71-50-5, and then was reversed over the summer 81-64-8. It passed again at convention, but just a few votes short of the $\frac{3}{4}$ majority for new amendments. I believe there are several reasons to support: 1) Money - Internet access permits schools more flexibility in storing and accessing their extemp files on tablets, chrome books, and other devices and could save money; 2) Education – students today are challenged by finding quality relevant sources out of a sea of bad and irrelevant information. Mastering that skill is educationally relevant; 3) Equity - The current system favors schools with large teams who can build extensive files by students who come into the activity with extensive background knowledge. The internet can be an equalizer when a topic is particularly difficult or obscure; 4) Ethics – One of the biggest ethical problems in extemporaneous speaking is students who make up fake sources. Judges who rank based on the number of sources are encouraging this. Internet Access will allow students to cite legitimate sources.
